DON DEORO BADLY BEATEN.

THE FAVORITE UNPLACED IN THE GREAT AMERICAN STARES.

The Prine Won by M. Byrnen's George Kessler-Margrave Took the Boulevard Stakes-Riley Granuan Has One of His Old-time Days-Long Beach Disqualified.

The Blemton Stable's colt Don de Oro, popularly supposed to be the champion two-year-old of the year, was badly beaten for the $12,500 Great American Stakes at Gravesend yesterday afternoon, the big son of Rayon d'Or failing to run better than fourth in a field of seven. Matthew Byrnes's chestnut colt George Kessler, by Salvator, out of Miss Woodford, won, with J. J. McCafferty's chestnut colt Arbuckle, by Bob Miles, out of Evelina, second, and J. R. & F. P. Keene's bay filly Rhodesia, by Wisdom, out of Faustina, was third. The race was worth $10,000 to the winner. $1,750 to the second, and $750 to the third horse. It was one of the biggest downfalls of the season, and a majority of the players lost very heavily over the race. The Blemton Stable's Margrave won the Boulevard Stakes in hollow style, so that there was a glimmering of sunshine in the cloud which seemed to envelop Mr. Belmont and the followers of the stable yesterday.

Opinions differ concerning Don de Oro's race. Some pointed to the fact that nearly all of the Rayon d'Or stallions have been rogues, and cited Tenny, Tea Tray, Bolero, Rubicon, and Torchlight as examples, and that Don de Oro had simply followed out the tendencies of his family and refused to run his best. Others thought that the colt had been overrated and that he lost the race on his merits. Still, he ran so well at Morris Park, and his private trials have been so good, that he must be beaten again before this theory can be accepted. Still others were of the opinion that the colt is such a long strider that he could not negotiate the Gravesend turn, and that he will be seen to much greater advantage on the certainly had speed a-plenty in both of his races at Morris Park, and simply galloped away from his opponents coming up the dip.

The private and public reputation of the colt made the field for the Great American the smallest that has ever gone to the post for that event. Out of over one hundred and fifty en-tries but nine were named over night, and of this number Albanian, owned by John E. Mc-Donald, and Sans Parell, from Col. Ruppert's stable, were withdrawn early in the afternoon It seemed like folly to hope for vic-tory, and the bulk of the spectators came to the course with the belief that the race was as good as won by the Blemton representative. There were about 10,000 persons in attendance when the race was called Superintendent Brush had thoroughly sprinkled the track, and there was nothing wanting to make the day thoroughly enjoyable.

The speculators made Don de Oro favorite a odds of 2 to 1 on, and with the possible excep tion of Riley Grannan all of the plunger odds of 2 to 1 on, and with the possible exception of Riley Grannan all of the plungers thought it was like finding money to play the big son of Rayon d' Or at that price. Grannan fancied George Kessler, and as he had won $0,000 on Goldcrest in the second event he was in a position to lay against the favorite and atand to lose a little or win a good deal. Don de Oro was such a prominent favorite that 7 to 1 could be had against Arbuckle, the second choice. It was 8 to 1 George Kessler. 10 to 1 San Mateo, 12 to 1 each The Friar and Rhodesia, and 20 to 1 Haphazard.

There was a delay of twenty-five minutes at the post, Clayton, Lamie, and McCafferty in turn pulling up and spoiling good starts. For this they were each fined $30 by the stewards. George Kessler was prominent in all of the breaks and seemed to be full of fire. Don de Oro was slow and sluggish and was prominent in only one of the breaks. The fing fell to a good send-off with the field snugly bunched. Rhodesia flew to the front and in less than 100 yards had gained a length or more of daylight, San Mateo second. George Kessler third, Don de Oro fourth. The Friar fifth, Arbuckle sixth, and Haphazard last. Lamle had a nice pull on the leader, and the English-bred Miss flew to the quarter pole in 24 seconds. San Mateo was still heading the ruck, in which George Kessler. Don de Oro. The Friar, and Arbuckle were heads and necks apart.

"Wast till Don de Oro cuts loose," shouted somebody on the lawn. But the favorite was not even holding his own at the head of the homestretch, and as George Kessler and Arbuckle pressed him Griffin went after his whin. Rhodesia was still in the van and moving like a piece of machinery. When the upper end of the grand stand was reached whips were cracking on the ribs of every colt in the endean was fill in the van and moving like a piece of machinery. When the upper end of the grand stand was reached whips were reached with general stand was reached whips were racing with him, thus illustrating the wisdom of Taral's win-away-o efforts, the big brother to Wishard catching Rhodesia and finishing at George Kessler's flanks at the wire. Don de Oro was fourth. The time, 1:0234, is fast for the Gravesend track.

Griffin's face was a foot long when he pulled up after the race, while Taral's countenance expanded until it was at least twelve inches

"We had his ears flat on his neck all the way round the upper turn," said Griffin.
"Riding that hore is senough to give a man a jag," was Taral's comment.

McCafferty looked said and said nothing. He had evidently underrated George Kessler and had looked upon Don do Oro as his only dangerous opponent. In the Hudson Stakes a few days ago Arbuckie and George Kessler ran a dead heat, and McCafferty would have work and heat of the had been at he and a half or six furlongs. Arbuckie would have won handity.

The winner is a very handsome colt. He was bred by J. B. Haggin of Rancho del Paso stud. California, and is entitled to win races, being by a champion out of a champion, Salvator and Miss Woodford having been the top-sawyers of the turf of their day. Mr. Haggin saw the races from the club house balcony with his superinteraction of the club house had been dead to the club house his propertion of the club house his propertion of the read and heat had been dead to the club house his propertion of the superinteraction of the superin

on Match Beelded at North Berwick.
Only Four Strokes Difference at the End, After a Fine Exhibition of Goldag.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUS.
LONDON, June 13,-J. H. Taylor of Winchester and Harry Vardon of Scarberough played off the tie for the Open Golf Championship at North Berwick to-day. Vardon assumed the lead at the outset, having the better put, but | tive on the train. was bunkered on going to the second hole, yet, as Taylor's putting was faulty, each was down in five. Taylor was trapped at the approach to than usual, the 'varsity crew rowing up the coming in Taylor regained three of the strokes, but was two down at the end of the first round. Beginning the second round Vardon drove the see ball into the wood, Taylor getting down in Vardon gained the second, and thereafter he increased his lead to the ninth hole. On the second half of this round Taylor had the longer drive, playing boldly across the bunkers. Vardon playing safe, but losing a stroke at the third hole. Both played steadily and equal-ly, Vardon taking the honors of this nine holes by a stroke on the home green. The scores: H. Vardon- FIRST ROUND.

....4 5 4 0 5 6 5 5 8 48

As the totals show, Taylor has failed by the narrow marsin of four strokes to win the open championship for the third successive year. The tic at Muirfield on Thursday was the first since the match has been increased to seventy-two holes, but ties were recorded in 1883 and 1889, when only thirty-six holes were played. Taylor beat Varion easily in the professional tournament at North Berwick on Friday, Vardon's score was eighteen strokes better than his tally on Friday, and Taylor also improved seven strokes.

TUXEDO GOLFERS DEFEATED. The Morris County Golf Club Winners in the Team Match,

Teams of five from the Tuxedo Club and the Morris County Golf Club met in a match on the Morristown links yesterday. The result was a decided victory far the home players, who had the advantage of fifteen holes at the end. Although all of the new greens were not play-able, the course was in splendid condition, and the cool weather stimulated the golfers to their best efforts. The putting greens were so closely clipped that they were as keen as a parlor carpet, which somewhat bothered the Tuxedo men, who are accustomed to a thicker and slower turf. The smooth lies also perplexed them in approaching, and they found it hard to judge the lofting fron strokes. William kent, who excels in rolling approach plays with the baffey, found the greens much to his liking, and made the best showing of the visitors. Olaff Van Cortlandt was next in merit, halving honors with his Morris County opponent. On the long holes he would be down in six or seven, but the short holes were his stumbling block, for, after spetifing on the greens in good style, the fast turf spoiled his puts.

James A. Tyng maintained his reputation as the Morristown champion by beating Mr. Allen twelve up. By strokes his card was: best efforts. The putting greens were so closely

The best score by strokes made by the Tuxedo men was the following turned in by William Kent:8 5 7 5 8 6 4 7 5-00 7 5 7 4 7 5 4 4 5-48-98

As a rule, the scores were on the high side, only Mr. Kent and Mr. Tyng getting under the century mark. The summary:

Joy in Pennsylvania's Camp-Fast Time by

Harvard Reported, Poughkeepsie, June 13.—There was joy in Pennsylvania's quarters to-day, and the 'varsity men were a happy set when they learned that the faculty had decided to permit Megarges. Kier, and Stevenson to retain their seats in the boat. Coach Ward was as jubliant as the oarsmen. Samuel Jack, the 'varsity substitute who was dropped from his class, returned to his home to-day and received a parting salute from the launch, which was answered by the locomo-The river was exceptionally smooth to-day, Although Ward has not received an official notification, all the men were in their old places and in finer form than keeping the boat on an even keel and blade work. Coxewain McAvoy has gone to Philadelkeeping the boat on an even keel and blade work. Coxewain MoAvoy has gone to Philadelphia, and Coxewain Lee of the freshmen crew filled McAvoy's place in the 'varsity boat. Capt. Boyle of the 'varsity crew did not row today, and he was taken on board the launch by Ward for the purpose of pointing out any defects which may exist in the rowing.

Harvard's two crews were out at different times this morning and afternoon. Coach Mumford is at Boston, and Capt. Bullard acted as coxewain of the freshman crew. All the coaching was done by him, the main feature being the blade work and practising form. The 'varsity oarsmen, followed by Coach Mumford in the launch John Harvard, went over the entire course last night against time. They pulled a thirty-four stroke, and, it is said, covered the four miles in record-breaking time. The crew used the new cedar shell for the first time tonight, and although it seemed to be a little awkward, the men rowed in good form.

Columbia's crews were out both morning and afternoon, after the other crews had housed their shells. They practised along the east shore close to their quarters, and were coached by finy Richards and A. W.Putnam from their launch. Both crews appear to have gained considerable benefit from the little coaching that Walter Peet was able to give to them yesterday, and when Peet left town last night he was pleased with their work. There is quite an improvement in their stroke and general form. The new shell, which arrived yesterday afternoon, was used by the freshman crew for the first time to-day, and seemed to work satisfactorily. The 'varsity's new shell will be here to-morrow and rigged for use on Monday. Haces of the Chatham Wheelmen.

The races of the Chatham, N. J., Wheelmen were held yesterday over the course between Chatham and Madison. The course was in good shape, though a trifle dusty. The attendance was good, and although no records were broken, the sport was excellent. In the two-mile handleap Charles Hadfield, the dis-qualified winner of the Irvington Milburn race, was leading at the finish, and the crowd shouted, "Hadfield wins," when he slackened his speed and sat up field wins," when he slackened his speed and sat up-right on his saddle; thinking he had crossed the tape he is near-sighted), when C. A HYSTERICAL GIRL'S SCARE, She Alarms New Branswick People by per doz., our price, per pair, 19c

NEW BRUNSWICK, June 13.-Miss Mary Laser of East Seventy-sixth street, New York. created a sensation on Somerser street this morning by suddenly rising in the carriage in which she was riding and waving her hands about her head yeiling "murder." She was on her way to the depot in company with her mother and Conrad Lutz, a farmer of Griggs town. She commenced screaming when near I'lum street, "Save me," she velled, "He hang me. Mercy, have you no mercy? I lon't wnot to die."

hang me. Mercy, have you no mercy? I lon't want to die."

When opposite St. Peter's School she manazed to free herself from her mother's held and jumped out of the buggy. She was too weak to run and the farmer and her mother caught her. Again she yelled and a crowd cellected. Some one thought the young we man was being assaulted and telephoned for the pelice.

Mamie Farlong and Miss Florence Welsh volunteered to take the girl home, and she was taken to Miss Furiong's house, 228 Son erset street. Mrs. Laser telegraphed to her son, a physician, to meet them at Jersey City, and the mother and daughter left later for New York. York.

Miss Laser, her mother said, was suffering from nervous prostration. It was thought a rest in the country would help her, so they came out to Conrad Lutz's summer boarding house at Grigoriown. Last night the young woman became worse, and it was thought necessary to remove her to New York.

Victoria's Bridge Disaster.

VICTORIA, B. C., June 13.-After careful investigation into the circumstances of the recent Point Elice Bridge disaster, the Coroner's jury yesterday rendered a verdict holding the Consolidated Raliroad Company directors responsible for the loss of fifty-five lives. The City Counbie for the loss of litty-live lives. The City Coun-cil was arraigned as guilty of contributory negligence, and the officials of the corporation were absolved of personal responsibility. It was found that the bridge was safe for or-dinary traffic, and the accident would not have occurred but for the improper overcrowding of the car, which went through the structure, but the bridge was found not to have been con-structed according to original specifications.

We Still Believe

There are lots of people who want a really high-grade wheel and will not be satisfied with the purchased them, you alone receiving the benesimply so-called high grades that worth 250. are now being boisterously exploited by a number of dealers at cut prices. It is an easy matter to sell a cheap wheel at a low price.

But the Wheel We Offer for $50 still is and always has been a standard $100 wheel that actually sold for $100, and the price has never before been broken. The reputation of the makers of our wheel is firmly established. Every one familiar with the Bicycle Business knows them as a firm that never made but one grade, and that the highest Their product was acknowledged by every one at the Cycle Show to be up to the standard of any wheel exhibited.
